Compass Coaching & Development works with managers and leaders of small-medium sized companies to help them develop what are known as "The 12 Foundations of High Performance Leadership". Compass C&D is able to get sustainable results for their clients due to their unique and effective process. Rather than simply telling your company what to do or how to change, Compass will empower your leaders with the necessary knowledge, awareness, and abilities - putting them in a position to grow and implement needed change. This process, combined with their effective accountability and support tools, helps to create a completely personalized and effective experience for each client! Please contact them at www.Compass-CD.com to learn more, or to attend one of their upcoming workshops.
